

Multi-room and Home Cinema Packages Setup Guide

James Drummie – Home Cinema Specialist

Introduction

To make installers lives easier, AWE has introduced a range of installation packages for home cinema and multi-room audio setups. These kits will speed up the specifying stage for installers, as they include all the necessary equipment.

AWE has designed Home Cinema Packages, ranging in levels, depending on what the key features are for the installation. The packages are suitable for use in a number of installs, including 5.1 and 5.2 setups plus upgraded Dolby Atmos and DTS:X installations. A combination of KEF speakers, subwoofers and amps, Kinetik cables and fire hoods, and Marantz AV or Denon receivers, amps and processors make up the Home Cinema Packages.

The Multi-room Audio Packages are starter kits for installers looking to install multi-zone audio set ups. Each package offers a different level of quality audio, ensuring that every AWE dealer is catered for. The kits include products from Heos by Denon, KEF and Kinetik.

These setup diagrams have been designed to assist you in understanding and connecting the various products within each package.

This is not a setup guide for each individual product. Please refer to the manufacturer's instructions for this information.

For detailed speaker positioning, refer to the "Dolby Atmos® Home Theater Installation Guidelines".

Additional cables are required for these packages. These are indicated with dotted lines.

Other interconnects will also be required to attach additional equipment such as Projectors, Blu-Ray players, Routers etc.
